Words & Music by Edward Weiss

I dreamed of you on Carnaby Street
I dreamed of you in the rain
I dreamed of you talking quiet and sweet
And I dreamed of dreaming again

What do you do when it all runs dry
And blows away in the wind
And you want it more than you ever did before
But there's no way to gather it in

Oh, I dreamed of you
I dreamed of you

And I was lying there next to you
Now it won't go away
The thought of you, the feel of you
Will always stay
'Cause all the songs the angels sing
Aren't half as sweet

Creaking at me, crying out about
How sweet my life could be

Words & Music by Edward Weiss

I dreamed of you on Carnaby Street
I dreamed of you in the rain
I dreamed of you talking quiet and sweet
And I dreamed of dreaming again

Remember how we ran down that tacky little street
In that awful grey city in the rain
Laughing more than we ever did before
More than we ever will again

'Cause now when it seems that we've got it made
Something has vanished inside
When I pull you close I feel nothing there
When I talk, I hear only lies

But I still dream of you
I still dream of you

I dreamed of you on Carnaby Street
I dreamed of you in the rain
I dreamed of you talking quiet and sweet
And I dreamed of dreaming again
